

Famous Troy University graduates

Being a graduate of Troy University in Troy, Alabama, my education is often mocked by those students who don't understand the success that comes from small colleges. From Troy have emerged astronauts, athletes, politicians, journalists, educators, entertainers, and military leaders. I am proud to be among these alumni.

Kevin A. Ford, astronaut

James Thomas, Jr., Survivor contestant

DeMarcus Ware, Dallas Cowboys defensive end

Lynne Koplitz, American stand-up comedian and actress

Bobby Bright, US Congressman

Lawrence James Henry Tynes, placekicker for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers

Manual H. Johnson, vice chairman of Federal Reserve

Bobby Jon Drinkard, Survivor contestant, TV host

Russell Honore, Lieutenant General of US Army

Jill Dobson, journalist for Fox News

Cam Ward, Alabama Senator

Tom Foreman, broadcast journalist for ABC World News Tonight

Robert W. Smith, American composer, arranger, and teacher

Kim E. Swan, professional golfer and politician

Chase Riddle, scout for St. Louis Cardinals

J. David Armstrong, President of Broward College

Herbert "Moo" Evans, Harlem Globetrotter

Clint Robinson, Kansas City Royals first baseman
